1 INTRODUCTION

The present Report summarizes the implementation, achievements, outcomes, and impact of the Soil Health & Capacity Building Initiative implemented by PACE Foundation under the Corporate Environmental Responsibility (CER) / Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) initiative of MGM Biofuels Pvt. Ltd. in Boudh District.

As part of its CSR, MGM Biofuels uses its funds for creating livelihood options for communities residing near its operational areas. Soil testing drive project was conceptualized across four villages under Biranarsinghpur Panchayat of Harbhanga block of Boudh District:

- Biramchandrapur
- Karadi
- Mahakudpali
- Hatagaon

2 OBJECTIVE OF THE PROJECT

The primary objective of the project was to promote sustainable agricultural practices through scientific soil testing, Soil Health Card generation, farmer awareness, and capacity-building programs among farming communities of Boudh District no soil testing was ever conducted by any agency in the said block.

3 EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Project Overview

The Soil Health & Capacity Building Initiative was implemented by the PACE Foundation under the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) mandate of MGM Biofuels Pvt Ltd. It was executed across four villages within the Biranarsinghpur Panchayat of Harbhanga Block of Boudh District (Biramchandrapur, Karadi, Mahakudpali, and Hatagaon). The project successfully promoted sustainable agriculture by introducing scientific soil monitoring and balanced nutrient management to local small, marginal and progressive farmers leading to lowering of input costs.

PROJECT AT A GLANCE
Total Registered Beneficiaries	509 Farmers
Scientific Soil Samples Analysed	509 Samples
Average Reduction in Farm Input Cost	26.89%

Key Achievements & Outcomes

- Scientific Soil Diagnosis: Successfully collected, processed, and chemically tested 509 distinct soil samples across the target geography to map crucial soil health metrics including pH, Electrical Conductivity (EC), Organic Carbon, Nitrogen, Phosphorus, and Potassium.
- Soil Health Card Distribution: Generated and delivered 509 customized Soil Health Cards. These cards provided farmers with direct, crop-specific fertilizer recommendations.
- Institutional Capacity Building: Conducted technical training and awareness workshops in collaboration with academic experts from the Faculty of Agricultural Sciences, Siksha 'O' Anusandhan (SOA) University, Bhubaneswar, ensuring deep community understanding of nutrient management.
- Immediate Economic Impact: Post-workshop data verified an immediate positive shift in farming practices. By optimizing application rates of fertilizers like Urea and Potash based on scientific recommendations, participating farmers recorded an average 26.89% reduction in cultivation input costs.
- Future Roadmap—Building upon the strong community participation and momentum generated during this cycle, a future roadmap has been conceptualized. A dedicated cohort of interested local farmers has been mobilized for structured exposure visits to successful natural farming sites in Satyabadi (Puri District. This next step aims to smoothly transition smallholders from reduced chemical reliance to long-term organic and natural farming practices, safeguarding local environmental resources while increasing household profitability.

4 TARGET GROUP AND GEOGRAPHICAL AREA

4.1 Target Group

- Small and marginal farmers
- Progressive farmers
- Male and female farmers engaged in agriculture

4.2 Geographical Area

A total of 509 soil samples were collected from the four villages mentioned below, and corresponding soil test reports were generated to assess soil health and support appropriate fertilizer recommendations.

Village Name	No of soil test report
Biramchandrapur	244
Mahakudpali	65
Karadi	122
Hatagaon	78

5 PROCEDURE ADOPTED

The following procedures were adopted for successful implementation of the project:

5.1 Awareness Camps

Conducted village-level awareness camps to educate farmers on project objectives and benefits.

Shared information on soil health management and sustainable agricultural practices.

Engaged farmers through interactive discussions and community meetings.

5.2 Registration of Farmers

Identified eligible farmers with the support of LRPs, Krushi Mitra, and local stakeholders.

5.2.1 Prepared village-wise lists of registered farmers for project implementation.

5.2.2 Maintained proper documentation and records for project activities.

5.3 Soil Sample Collection Methodology

5.3.1 Identification of farmer plots in the selected villages.

5.3.2 Collection of soil samples from different locations of the field.

5.3.3 Soil samples collected at the recommended depth using proper tools and procedures.

5.3.4 Removal of stones, plant residues, and unwanted materials before sampling.

5.3.5 Mixing of collected soil thoroughly to prepare a composite sample.

5.3.6 Proper labelling of samples with farmer details, village name.

5.3.7 Safe packaging and transportation of samples to the laboratory for testing.

5.4 Soil Testing Process

5.4.1 Submitted the collected soil samples at Institute of Agricultural Sciences, SOA University.

5.4.2 Drying and preparation of soil samples for analysis.

5.4.3 Testing of important soil parameters such as pH, EC, organic carbon, nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium.

5.4.4 Recording and verification of test results by technical experts.

5.5 Generation of Soil Health Cards and Recommendations

5.5.1 Preparation of Soil Health Cards based on laboratory analysis.

5.5.2 Development of farmer-specific soil health cards with nutrient status details.

5.5.3 Recommendation of suitable fertilizers and soil management practices.

5.5.4 Inclusion of crop-wise nutrient application guidance for balanced fertilization.

5.5.5 Distribution of soil health cards to farmers through door to door and capacity building programs.

5.5.6 Guidance provided to farmers on interpretation and effective utilization of the soil health card and recommendations.

6 PARAMETERS COVERED BY THE SOIL HEALTH CARD

6.1 Soil pH

Soil pH indicates the acidity or alkalinity of the soil, which directly affects nutrient availability to crops. Maintaining an optimum pH level helps plants absorb nutrients efficiently and improves overall crop growth.

6.2 Electrical Conductivity

Electrical Conductivity (EC) indicates the amount of soluble salts present in the soil. It helps in determining the salinity level of the soil, which affects water absorption, nutrient availability, and overall plant growth. Proper EC levels support healthy crop development and better productivity.

6.3 Organic Carbon

Organic carbon measures the amount of organic matter present in the soil. It plays an important role in improving soil fertility, water retention capacity, and microbial activity.

6.4 Nitrogen

Nitrogen is an essential nutrient required for leaf growth and overall plant development. Adequate nitrogen availability helps in producing healthy green plants and higher crop yields.

6.5 Phosphorus

Phosphorus supports root development, flowering, and seed formation in crops. It also helps plants store and transfer energy for better growth and productivity.

6.6 Potassium

Potassium improves plant strength, disease resistance, and drought tolerance. It also enhances the quality, size, and overall productivity of crops.

6.7 Crop-wise Fertilizer Recommendation

This parameter provides specific fertilizer recommendations based on the crop and soil test results. It ensures balanced nutrient application, reduces excess fertilizer use, and lowers cultivation costs.

7 WORKSHOPS CONDUCTED

7.1 Participation

A total of 509 soil samples were collected from the four villages mentioned below, and corresponding soil test reports were generated to assess soil health and support appropriate fertilizer recommendations.

7.2 Content of the Workshop

The primary objective of the capacity-building workshops was to enhance farmers' awareness, promote the adoption of improved and scientific agricultural practices, and encourage sustainable soil and nutrient management practices.

The workshops included detailed technical sessions on Soil Health Management, conducted by Professors and Assistant Professors from the Department of Soil Science, SOA University. The sessions focused on helping farmers understand scientific approaches for improving soil health and agricultural productivity.

The key focus areas of the workshops included:

7.2.1 Interpretation of Soil Health Card reports

7.2.2 Identification of gaps in existing farming practices

7.2.3 Scientific and practical approaches to address soil nutrient deficiencies

7.2.4 Strategies for improving soil fertility and enhancing crop productivity

In addition, a knowledge-sharing session on Natural Farming was conducted by Dr. Prasant Biswal. He shared practical insights and field-level experiences on the adoption of natural farming practices and highlighted their benefits for soil health, environmental sustainability, and long-term agricultural productivity.

Interactive discussions and farmer engagement sessions enabled participants to clarify their doubts and explore crop- and soil-specific solutions suited to local farming conditions.

One of the capacity-building workshops was organized at Jajabara, Biranarsinghpur Panchayat, Boudh. Where Mr. K.S. Rao, Unit Head, MGM Biofuels Pvt. Ltd. and Mr. Kunal Satua, HR Manager, MGM Biofuels Pvt. Ltd., addressed the gathering. They interacted directly with the farmers regarding bio-fuel plant.

8 CHALLENGES FACED & STRATEGIC MITIGATION

While the initiative successfully met its core physical and financial targets, the field team encountered several operational, social, and environmental challenges. Proactive mitigation strategies were deployed to ensure unhindered project delivery.

8.1 Community Engagement & Local Priority Alignment

The Challenge: Initial community turnout at scheduled awareness camps and technical workshops fluctuated due to overlapping seasonal priorities, specifically local festivals and farmer commitments at government crop procurement centres (Mandis).

Mitigation Strategy: The team adjusted intervention timelines around Mandi operating hours and conducted decentralized, smaller community meetings directly within village hamlets to accommodate farmers' active schedules.

8.2 Management of Community Expectations Regarding Industrial Operations Alignment

The Challenge: Given the target villages' close proximity to the MGM Biofuel Plant, community discussions during soil distribution camps frequently shifted toward industrial matters, including requests for direct local employment, pending corporate wage payments, and broader local environmental or water availability concerns.

Mitigation Strategy: Project coordinators carefully separated corporate operational concerns from the agricultural developmental mandate of the CSR project. Farmers were realigned to the direct, long-term economic benefits of the soil testing drive—specifically how scientific nutrient application immediately insulates their household income by reducing farm input overheads.

8.3 Seasonal Weather Constraints & Muddy Field Conditions

The Challenge: In Karadi and Mahakudpali villages, the vital paddy harvesting window directly coincided with unseasonal monsoon rains, creating heavily waterlogged and muddy field conditions that temporarily halted safe and precise soil sample extractions.

Mitigation Strategy: Rather than compromising sample integrity, the team deferred extraction schedules in affected low-lying plots until fields dried appropriately. The sampling methodology was adapted by utilizing specialized tools suited for high-moisture clay matrices, ensuring all 509 samples were securely laboratory-tested within the approved financial cycle.

8.4 Strategic Transition to the Future Roadmap

The challenges faced with industrial operations and weather volatility directly shaped our Future Roadmap. Unpredictable monsoon patterns and environmental land concerns underscored the urgent need for climate-resilient farming systems. Transitioning farmers toward Natural Farming through scheduled exposure visits to Satyabadi lowers their reliance on heavy industrial inputs, restores natural soil moisture retention during monsoon variances, and builds an autonomous, highly profitable agricultural ecosystem independent of external operational variables.

9 POST WORKSHOP IMPACT

The project created significant positive impact among the participating farmers. Farmers developed better understanding regarding soil nutrient management and the importance of scientific farming practices.

Many farmers reported a reduction in unnecessary fertilizer and pesticide usage after following the recommendations provided through Soil Health Cards. The average reduction in individual farm input cost is approximately 26.89%, with an overall collective cost drop of 25.10% across the audited cohort. The initiative also contributed towards improving awareness regarding sustainable agriculture and efficient input management practices.

The capacity-building programs strengthened farmer confidence in adopting scientific cultivation methods, which is expected to improve agricultural productivity and reduce cultivation costs in the long term.

10 ANNEXURE-1: LIST OF BENEFICIARIES

The project created significant positive impact among the participating farmers. Farmers developed better understanding regarding soil nutrient management and the importance of scientific farming practices.

Many farmers reported a reduction in unnecessary fertilizer and pesticide usage after following the recommendations provided through Soil Health Cards. The average reduction in individual farm input cost is approximately 26.89%, with an overall collective cost drop of 25.10% across the audited cohort. The initiative also contributed towards improving awareness regarding sustainable agriculture and efficient input management practices.

The capacity-building programs strengthened farmer confidence in adopting scientific cultivation methods, which is expected to improve agricultural productivity and reduce cultivation costs in the long term.

12 ANNEXURE-3: FUTURE ROADMAP: EXPOSURE VISIT FOR PROMOTING NATURAL FARMING

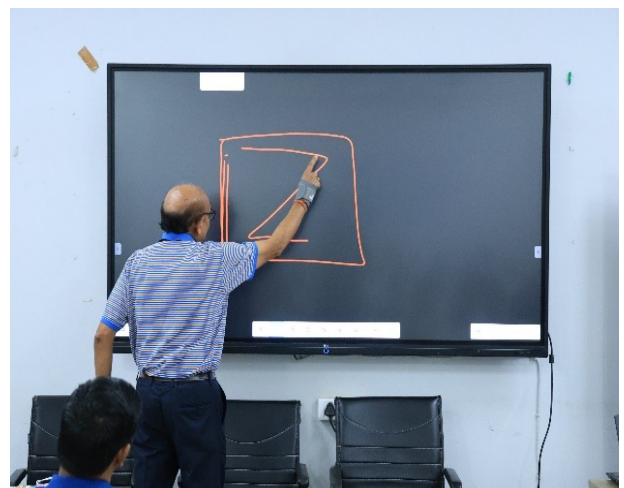

During the workshop, Prasant Biswal from Satyabadi Block, Puri District, shared his experiences and insights on natural farming practices and their benefits. The interaction generated significant interest among the participating farmers, who expressed a willingness to learn and adopt sustainable farming approaches.

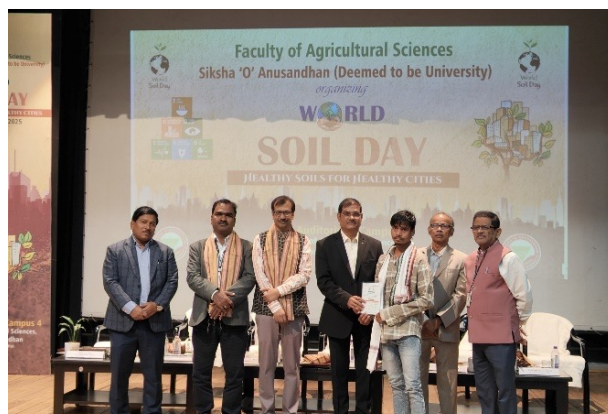

As a follow-up initiative, an exposure visit to the natural farming sites in Satyabadi Block is planned to provide interested farmers with practical field-level knowledge and hand on experience of successful natural farming practices. The list of interested farmers is attached below:
